If the price is reduced, the organiser or the retailer has the right to deduct his actual administrative expenses from the refund owed to the traveller. At the traveller's request, the organiser or the retailer provides proof of his administrative expenses.

Article R. 211-9
When, before the departure of the traveller, the organiser or the retailer, has no choice but to modify one of the key elements of the contract, if he cannot meet the special requirements mentioned at 1o of article R. 211-6, or in the case of a rise in the price higher than 8%, he shall inform the traveller without undue delay, in a clear, intelligible and readable manner, on a durable medium:

1) of the proposed changes and, where necessary, of their resulting impact on the price of the journey and of the stay;
2) of the reasonable period of time within which the traveller must communicate his decision to the organiser or the retailer;
3) of the consequences of failure from the traveller to communicate a response within the time set;

When the amendments to the contract or the alternative service mean that the quality of the journey or of the stay or of its cost suffers, the traveller shall be entitled to have the price reduced appropriately.

If the contract is terminated and the traveller does not accept other service, the organiser or the retailer shall reimburse any payment made by the traveller or on his behalf without undue delay and in any event no later than fourteen days after the termination of the contract, without prejudice to any claims for damages pursuant to article L. 211-17.

Essential rights under Directive (EU) 2015/2302 transposed into the Tourism Code:

Travellers will receive all essential information about the travel service or package before concluding the travel contract (package travel contract if applicable).

The travel service provider or tour operator and the retailer are responsible for the proper execution of all travel services included in the contract.

Travellers are provided with an emergency telephone number or contact information for a contact point to contact the travel service provider or the tour operator or retailer.

Travellers may transfer their travel service or package to another person, subject to reasonable notice and possibly subject to paying additional fees.

If the price increase exceeds 8% of the price of the travel service or package, the traveller may terminate the contract. If the travel service provider or the tour operator reserves the right to increase the price, the traveller is entitled to a price reduction in the event of a reduction in the corresponding costs.

Travellers can cancel the contract without paying a cancellation fee and be fully reimbursed for payments made if any of the essential elements of the contract, other than the price, undergoes a material change. If, before the start of the travel service or of the package, the professional responsible for the trip or package cancels it, travellers are entitled to a refund and a compensation, if applicable.

Travellers can terminate the contract without paying a cancellation fee before the start of the travel service or package by in exceptional circumstances, for example if there are serious safety problems at the place of destination that are likely to affect the trip or package.

In addition, travellers may, at any time before the start of the journey or package, terminate the contract for a fee appropriate and justifiable resolution.

If, after the start of the trip or package, important elements of it cannot be provided as planned, other appropriate services must be offered to travellers at no extra cost. Travellers can solve the contract without paying a termination fee when the services are not performed in accordance with the contract, if this disrupts considerably the execution of the journey or package and that the travel service provider or the tour operator of the package tour does not solve the problem.

Travellers are also entitled to a price reduction and/or compensation in the event of non-performance or improper performance of travel services.

The travel service provider or tour operator or retailer must provide assistance if the traveller is in difficulty.

If the travel service provider or tour operator or retailer becomes insolvent, the amounts paid will be reimbursed.
